

Computer Science
Class XII
Assignment 1

1. A program having multiple functions is considered better designed than a program without any functions. Why?
2. What are arguments and parameters?
3. What is the difference between void and non-void?
4. What do you understand by flow of execution?